NOTICE

Joseph R. Goodwin, Chief Judge

Darlene Deegan notified in the nature of, that Thomas Deegan is seeking shelter in a "City of Refuge", pursuant to Hosanna-Tabor v. Equal Employment, U.S. Supreme Court Jan. 12, 2012, "it is easy to forget that the autonomy of religious groups, both here in the United States and abroad, has often served as a shield against oppressive civil laws..... To safeguard this crucial autonomy, we have long recognized that the Religion Clauses protect a private sphere within which religious bodies are free to govern themselves in accordance with their own beliefs. The Constitution guarantees religious bodies "independence from secular control or manipulation—in short, power to decide for themselves, free from state interference. Thomas exercised his constitutionally protected religious Right to seek shelter from secular oppression of the wicked, as found in (Ex. 21:12-14; Num. 35:6-34; Deut. 4:41-43; 19:1-13; and Josh. 20:1-9) Romans 6:14 and Hebrews 6:18, to seek refuge from the law, in Jesus Christ.

For cause, I am Nathan J Peachey successor-in-interest/intervener on duty, and pursuant to the Constitution, Bill of Rights, Article 1, and Article 10, I will exercise my right of powers on the THOMAS DEEGAN and DARLENE DEEGAN Plaintiff, Case# 6:12-cv-00523.
